

Sabre Industries Acquires Midwest Underground Technology, Inc.

Alvarado, TX – (July 11, 2013) - Sabre Industries, Inc. (“Sabre”) announced today that it has completed the acquisition of Midwest Underground Technology, Inc. (“MUTI”), a leading provider of infrastructure services to the telecommunications industry. As a result of Sabre’s acquisition of MUTI, Sabre is now the only integrated provider capable of offering a single, turn-key infrastructure solution with both products and services to telecommunications customers across the United States.

“The acquisition of MUTI will allow Sabre to better serve our customers by providing a full range of services including installation, maintenance, inspection, and technology upgrades to complement our existing position as the #1 producer of wireless communications towers and shelters,” noted Peter J. Sandore, Chief Executive Officer of Sabre. “MUTI’s self-perform business model, focus on safety and quality, and best-in-class service capabilities will serve as key differentiators in the marketplace. Together, we will become the leader in products, services and maintenance in the telecommunications sector,” Mr. Sandore added.

MUTI will retain its name, facilities and executive staff and operate as the services division of Sabre. Darrin Peters, President of MUTI, noted, “We are excited to become part of the Sabre team and enhance our ability to serve customers. We feel confident that as one company we can offer our customers the finest products and services available on a national scale.”

About Sabre Industries, Inc.

In business since 1977, Sabre is a leading producer of highly engineered products used for electric transmission and distribution and wireless telecommunications, offering a complete customer solution with a full range of engineered towers, poles, structures, and related services. The Company’s vast array of product offerings and extensive manufacturing capabilities has allowed Sabre to develop leading positions with a high-quality, diversified group of customers including the nation’s largest utilities and wireless communications firms. For further information on Sabre Industries, Inc., and its various divisions, please visit our web site at: www.sabreindustries.com.

About MUTI

MUTI is a leading provider of infrastructure services to the telecommunications industry, with a full range of service offerings including tower construction, modifications and maintenance, inspection services, microwave design and deployment, utility construction, transport services, and generator and HVAC maintenance. For more information, visit our website at: www.mutionline.com.

###